Hogwallow News.

The Dog Hill preacher is raising a crop this summer. He believes this is the best plan for then he can preach without a salary and won't have to shape his sermons to suit the deacons in the church.

The deputy constable has been busy for the past week following a stranger through the hills around the Gander creek graveyard. He believes the man has a jug of licker in a sack he carries on his shoulder.

The village of Bounding Billows got its name from the fact that the creek runs right fast as it passes there.

Miss Rosyola Mosely has picked up the air to a song called "Somewhere." She rendered it at the Wild Onion school house Friday and was cheered so by the audience that several were arrested for a breach of the peace. She is requested hereafter to sing somewhere else.

You work yourself, you get tired, work somebody else they get tired.

Pompey Simpson the popular feudist of Cannon Ridge was in Hogwallow this week looking for the fellow that shot his second cousin.

A person with small means needs a large brain, though a full pocket often goes with an empty head.

Laziness gives a man time to meditate over the many things he should have done.

A bird in a cage can't catch the early worm, but it can have a pull with its owner and the worm will be brought to it.

A person in jail is greatly handicapped in both business and social activity.

Remedy For Diarrhoea Never Known to Fail.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I can not say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. Jemison Spring Grove, York county, Pa. This remedy is for sale by J. H. Orme the leading drug store in Western Kentucky. Haynes & Taylor the enterprising druggist of Marion.

Brief History of Electric Lighting.

A hundred years ago in experimenting with electrical phenomena many luminous effects were noted by the experimenters and physicists, but the actual history of electric lighting, so far as the public is concerned, dates back only to 1875. In this brief space of time the industry has developed and grown beyond imagination until today there are thousands of central stations and isolated plants and millions of lamps scattered over the entire earth.

Large Steam Ship.

New York, Aug. 10.—When the new Cunard express steamship Lusitania leaves Liverpool for this port early in September her departure will mark the greatest event ever recorded in the history of the commerce of the seas. All the marine experts of the world and thousands upon thousands of laymen will await the conclusion of what is thought will be the fastest ocean passage by the greatest marine turbines yet constructed.

The leviathan of the sea is this great liner, besides which the largest steamships now in the transatlantic trade seem small. Now in dry dock on the other side, the official speed trials of the Lusitania will soon be held. Already, with her bottom fouled with the clinging mud of the river Clyde, a measured mile test gives her speed at twenty-five knots and the endurance tests to be run are expected to demonstrate her capacity to make this speed day after day on her regular trips in the service of the Cunard line.

The product of two years in the hands of her builders, Messrs. John Brown & Co., Limited, of Clydebank, the great size of the Lusitania may be realized when it is known that with an ordinary amount of cargo and passengers the throbbing mass of steel and fittings will weigh more than forty-five thousand tons. She is 750 feet in length, 88 feet in breadth and 60 feet in molded depth, with a load draught of 37 feet 6 inches. The turbine engines, which are to drive the four propellers of the liner at a twenty-five-knot gait are to develop 70,000 horse power, or nearly 25,000 horse power more than the great quadruple reciprocating engines of the Kaiser Wilhelm II, of the North German Clyde line, the highest type of their kind in the world.

One of the features of new Cunard, the Lusitania, the biggest ship afloat which has just finished a successful trial trip, is the "veranda cafe." This is situated with a view astern of the vessel and passengers can sit there and enjoy the sea air while they are completely sheltered from the wind. It will be like dining on the brow of some cliff swept by ocean breezes with an outlook of ocean and sky alone. There are also two "regal suites" on this ship designed to meet the demands of travelers who want the utmost luxury. They will cost $2,000 each a trip. Sir William White, who had much to do with creating the big liner, said that the coal consumption of the steamer would be forty-five tons an hour, or about 5,000 for a transatlantic trip.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera And Diarrhoea Remedy, Better Than Three Doctors.

"Three years ago we had three doctors with our little boy and everything that they could do seemed in vain. At last when all hope seemed to be gone we began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to improve. Today he is as healthy a child as parents could wish for."—Mrs. B. J. Johnston, Linton, Miss. For sale by J. H. Orme the leading drug store in Western Kentucky. Haynes & Taylor the enterprising druggist in Marion.

The World's Biggest Man.

The other morning at the Frisco tracks in Ft. Scott, was the biggest man in the world. He is known as "Baby Jim" Simmons, a negro, who weighs 750 pounds.

There are but few who will believe that any human being could attain such a great weight unless they chanced to see this mastodon.

One glimpse at the monster, however, allays all doubts as to the man's enormous physical proportions. Every one who saw his massiveness went away telling himself that the negro weighed nearer a ton than the weight before given.

Jim Simmons was accompanying W. R. McBurnett, a theatrical circus man, to St. Joe. The monster lives at Beaumont, Texas. He occupied two seats in the smoker and slept all the time from early morning till nine o'clock, though there was a constant stream of people scrambling through the car to see him. Efforts to wake the negro were unsuccessful. He remained there, snoring loudly and also breathing heavily. Finally his manager came into the car, cleared out the curious ones, and took his big one to the vestibule to give him an airing. A newspaper man was admitted to converse with the mastodon for a few minutes. Simmons said he was twenty years of age; that his parents were both small though his grandparents each weighed over 300 mark. He says he does not eat or drink any more than the average size man and that he enjoys the best of health, his heart behaving in a most satisfactory manner. He is but 69 inches tall and is "further around than up and down," to use a small boy's expression. There is no doubt that this man is one of the most gigantic human beings that ever lived.—Kansas City Journal.

Hunting For Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alloghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters, it cures every case, Guaranteed at J. H. Orme's drug store, 25c.

Supper at Springs.

Thursday evening Mrs. Virgil D. Prenell entertained a crowd of the young people at Echo Valley Springs spreading quite an elaborate supper. The supper was given in honor of Misses Mary Lou and Amanda Akin, of Princeton, visitors of Miss Anna Blanche Landrum. The Misses Akin returned home the first of the week. They became quite popular with the young folks during their stay here. Mrs. Prenell is an elegant hostess and the guests at the supper spoke many words of praise of her for the manner in which they were entertained.—Smithland Banner.

BY W. G. MONTGOMERY.

Truth is invincible to the most subtle attack. Its honor is unquestioned. It is the living force of action in our lives. It imbues us with nobler trends of thought and elevates us to higher plains of action. Its invigorating touch inspires the human soul to higher ideals, thereby helping to shape our destiny.

Truth flashes her great searchlight over the dark main; she throws her scintillating rays of beauty across the bosom of the deep; she lifts the veil of night from the abyssal depths of crime and degradation and holds up in the light of the Eternal morn the receding tide of wasting humanity in all its indescribable horrors. When our conscience is imbued with its holy presence it serves as a beacon light by which our feet may be guided to the further shore. It will flash and gleam in serene beauty on the rocking waters of thought as we pass beyond the grave.

Truth is the best standard by which our lives are measured. It is a policy no one can regret pursuing. It should be a jewel emblazoned in the countenance of every young man and woman in the land.

Shakespeare says, "Men's evil manners live in brass—their virtues we write in water." This is true to some extent, yet not entirely so. Truth is not evanescent. It and the soul go hand in hand to the Throne and extend to the utmost borders of time.

Yet truth has its pains. It may search and sear our pride, but it only purifies the soul and sweetens the cup of life.

Carlyle, one of the greatest of all thinkers, says, "Every noble crown is and on earth will ever be a crown of thorns." We might add that truth is the basis principle in the construction of every "noble crown."

But after all, even the way be painful, what is more grand, more glorious and immortal than a crown of truth bought with the wrecks of labor and builded on a cluster of thorns.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my Book on either dyspepsia. The Heart or the Kidneys Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for samples and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Haynes & Taylor.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is absorption, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At last, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—draws blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently through safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets does it in 30 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure. Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend
